MUCH ACTIVITY

AT TONOPAH NOW

"Tonopah is better today than it has been at any time since the latest boom, which was shortly before the panic," said Grant Crumley to a Gazette man this morning. Mr. Crumley formerly conducted the Palace hotel in this city and is now one of the owners of the Nevada Club in Tonopah.

He says that all the mines are working full force and that a number of leasers are busy on the Jim Butler and are getting most encouraging ore. The discovery of such large bodies of rich ore below the dacite intrusion in the Belmont has stimulated work in all parts of the camp and business men are reaping the benefits. Mr. Crumley expects to remain in Reno for several weeks.—Reno Gazette.

Professor Howe Falls Dead From Heat While Working on His House

Professor H. Howe of the University of Nevada was summoned by death Monday morning without warning and when he was apparently in the best of health.

He was building a new home on University Terrace and since commencement he had been doing a portion of the carpenter work himself. He was working alone this morning and was seen as late as 10:30 vigorously wielding a saw.

At noon his wife called to him to come to lunch, but, receiving no response, went to the new house, where she found him lying dead, apparently having been stricken while at work, passing away without a struggle.

The University people were notified and President Stubbs and others hurried to the Howe home, where they comforted the grief-stricken widow and lent what other assistance they could.

The intense heat of the morning, coupled with the exertion, seems to have wrought upon the professor's age-weakened heart caused his death.

Professor Hayward H. Howe came to Reno in 1906 to accept a professorship in the University of Nevada and the principalship of the university high school. Prior to that time he had been principal of the Carson City high school for a third of a century.

The deceased was aged nearly 75 years. He was a native of Iowa. He was graduated from the Mount Pleasant, Iowa, high school and the normal institute of that city. After teaching a few terms in the middle west he went to California and was principal of the Auburn high school from 1865 to 1869.

In the latter year he came to Nevada and was principal of the Gold Hill high school for two years. Before beginning his work in Carson City he served one year as principal of the Sacramento high school.

A wife and three daughters survive him. The latter are Misses Edith, Sibyl and Amy Howe. Professor Howe was the oldest school teacher in Nevada and from under his tutelage have come many men and women who have won fame in the arena of letters, politics and finance. With his death passes one of the best known and most highly revered men in the state.—Reno Gazette.

PAY SHOOT FOUND ON BOOTH LEASE

ASSAYS AS HIGH AS $1,000 PER TON ARE OPENED ON LAND LEASE.

Ten inches of ore that assays from one to fifty ounces gold per ton is reported to have been opened in the Lind and Sheridan lease on the Booth. The strike was made in a drift on the 360-foot level and on what is believed to be the northerly extension of the Red Top vein.

The ledge is sixteen feet wide, and carries a large body of oxidized quartz that has been showing favorable assays for about three weeks. The vein was reached by crosscutting east from the shaft a distance of about 200 feet. Drifts have been driven and a winze sunk on the vein, and the indications now seem to justify the belief that a pay shoot has at last been encountered. The Booth has long been a puzzle to all who have operated on it, frequent bunches of encouraging values having been encountered, but they have proven erratic and fleeting.

A large amount of development work has been done by the company and by leasers, in expectation of being able to develop a shipper, but the net result has been disappointment. This new discovery may solve the problem and place the Booth in the list of real mines.—Goldfield Tribune.
